I. Course Description: The purpose of this class is to introduce students to the theories, practices, and health benefits of the physical form of yoga (Hatha) including increased flexibility, balance, strength, mental clarity, and emotional calm. Students will become familiar with a variety of standing, seated, and floor poses, the English/Sanskrit names and uses of them, and how to safely perform and modify postures as a person's needs require. Awareness of the breath will be practiced. Students will utilize their own equipment, order equipment online, or borrow equipment from the instructor for the semester.

II. Course Goal and Learning Objectives:

Learn and practice Hatha Yoga for increased sense of wellbeing.

Students will:

- 1) Develop skeletal and muscular awareness through mind-body practices
- 2) Learn Hatha Yoga strategies which may help relieve physical discomfort
- 3) Increase awareness of how to work with the challenges of the physical body
- 4) Be exposed to terminology and basic principles used in Hatha Yoga
- 5) Become skilled at modifying yoga poses to fit individual needs

III. Method of Assessment and Evaluation: The achievement of course objectives shall be assessed by the following:

Evaluation Breakdown:

Activity Participation: 50%

Close observation of student by instructor with regard to quality of participation – Including but not limited to the following aspects of student’s classroom performance: readiness for learning, engagement with activity subject matter, curiosity, effort, skill improvement, collaborative spirit, initiative, and synthesis of material.

Required Class Attendance: 50%

Students shall not have more than three unexcused absences to receive a passing grade of “C.” Four or more unexcused absences shall result in a “no pass.” Maximum two “make-ups” allowed by going to another similar class and reporting to instructor by the last class meeting.

An “A” grade would demonstrate excellent participation and 0-1 absences maximum.

Additional requirements to pass the class for asynchronous students:

Asynchronous students must submit two papers by email directly to the instructor. The first paper is a one page reflection due by the eighth week of classes. The second paper is a one page reflection due by the final week of classes before RRR week. Both papers will reflect on what the student has learned, what likes and dislikes the student has for the various poses and exercises, whether the class has reduced the stress of the student, and what thoughts or questions the student has going forward.

V. Official Policies of the University of California at Berkeley

All students must abide by the Berkeley Campus Code of Student Conduct <https://sa.berkeley.edu/code-of-conduct>.

Statement of Accommodation. The University of California at Berkeley provides reasonable accommodations to students with disabilities through the Disabled Students' Program (<https://dsp.berkeley.edu>). For more information regarding these services, please contact the staff in the Disabled Students' Program via telephone at 510.642.0518, visit in person at 260 Cesar Chavez Student Center, or email at dsp@berkeley.edu.

Accommodation of Religious Creed. The University of California at Berkeley is compliant with Education code, Section 92640(a) and permits any student to undergo a test or examination, without penalty, at a time when that activity would not violate the student's religious creed, unless administering the examination at an alternative time would impose an undue hardship which could not reasonably have been avoided (see <https://sa.berkeley.edu/uga/religion> for detailed information).

Academic Integrity. "You are a member of an academic community at one of the world's leading research universities. Universities like Berkeley create knowledge that has a lasting impact in the world of ideas and on the lives of others; such knowledge can come from an undergraduate paper as well as the lab of an internationally known professor. One of the most important values of an academic community is the balance between the free flow of ideas and the respect for the intellectual property of others. Researchers don't use one another's research without permission; scholars and students always use proper citations in papers; professors may not circulate or publish student papers without the writer's permission; and students may not circulate or post materials (handouts, exams, syllabi--any class materials) from their classes without the written permission of the instructor.

Scheduling Conflicts. Please notify the instructor in writing by the second week of the term about any known or potential extracurricular conflicts (such as religious observances, graduate or medical school interviews, or team activities). The instructor shall try his or her best to help you with making accommodations, but cannot promise them in all cases. In the event there is no mutually workable solution, you may be dropped from the course. (For more information, see the Guidelines Concerning Scheduling Conflicts with Academic Requirements <https://academic-senate.berkeley.edu/sites/default/files/guide-acad-sched-conflicts-final-2014.pdf>).
